The Nita Brinson award commemorates Nita Brinson who was a successful Realtor and well-known community volunteer who was instrumental in the Ad Club of Northeast Louisiana's birth and helped to establish the Aviation and Military Museum of Louisiana at Selman Field (now known as the Chennault Aviation and Military Museum).

The Ad Club of Northeast Louisiana established this award following Nita Brinson's brutal murder in September of 2000. Ad Club members wanted to show respect to one of its founders who was one of the best salespersons in the Ark-La-Miss and thus, The Nita Brinson Sales Award was born.

The award is given to a person who has made an outstanding contribution to the advertising industry in the areas of honesty and integrity, customer service and attention to detail, participation and support of the Advertising Club of Northeast Louisiana, and dedication to the betterment of our community.

The winner is chosen from nominations submitted by Ad Club members; however, a winner does not have to be chosen should the judging panel decide the nominated person doesn't meet the qualifications for the award.

The judging panel is comprised of at least one Ad Club member and two other people.
